The ARCHITECTS GOLF CLUB

Distinction By Design

As the General Manager of The Architects Golf Club, I am proud to present our golf membership packages for the 2016 season. Conveniently located off of Interstate 78, in the plush meadows of Western New Jersey, The Architects Golf Club offers a visually challenging, but eminently pleasing golf experience. Whether you are an avid recreational golfer, a golfing family or one who entertains clients on the golf course, The Architects Golf Club has the perfect membership to fit your needs. From our beautifully manicured golf course, to our professional, courteous staff, as well as the exquisite Thyme Restaurant, there is something to excite every golfer at The Architects Golf Club.

The Architects Golf Club is a 6,863-yard par 71 gem, designed and shaped to pay tribute to the most prolific architectural golf course designers in history. Renowned golf course architect, Stephen Kay, and Golf Digest Architectural Editor, Ron Whitten, handpicked golf's most premier architects from the, "golden age of golf course design," 1885 through 1955, encompassing seventy years of great design styles. Kay, Whitten and lead shaper, Dennis Turco, utilized shapes of tees, contours of greens, bunkering and strategic hole layouts in order to create every hole in the unique style of each featured architect. Our history lesson begins at the first tee box with Old Tom Morris, who designed such treasures as Carnoustie and Muirfield in Scotland and the New Course and Jubilee at St. Andrews. The second hole is inspired by C.B. Macdonald, the founding father of American golf course architecture, who laid out America's first 18-hole golf course. Macdonald also designed The Chicago Golf Club in 1895 and later created the masterpiece known as National Golf Links of America in Long Island, New York. As the round continues, The Architects Golf Club features holes patterned after other golf greats including A.W. Tillinghast, Donald Ross and Alister Mackenzie, to name a few. The final chapter of The Architects Golf Club, our 18th hole, was reserved for Robert Trent Jones Sr., commonly regarded as the most influential architect in the history of the game.

Lawrence and Dennis Turco, owners and operators of Turco Golf Inc., helped make the dream that was The Architects Golf Club a reality, building the course from the ground up, making it the region's premier semi-private golf course facility, and a destination that truly is one-of-a-kind. The practice range features 30,000 square feet of grass tees, a practice fairway bunker and green-side chipping bunker to complement numerous instructional options. Your membership at The Architects Golf Club affords you unlimited access to our practice facilities.

In 2007, The Architects Golf Club added a state-of-the-art 16,000 square foot clubhouse, which is home to Thyme Restaurant & Bar. Thyme offers a fresh, crisp and modern dining experience with indoor and outdoor seating, offering scenic panoramic views of the golf course against a backdrop of beautiful wooded hills. For your added convenience, the clubhouse offers complimentary Wi-Fi internet access, men's and ladies' locker rooms and a luxurious business lounge. As a member, you will be able to host your next social or business event at our premier banquet facility. From large lavish affairs, to small intimate social events or business meetings, I'm confident that you will find our clubhouse is the perfect venue for your next event.

Please contact me at 908-213-3080 Ext. 126 for information on club membership, or to schedule a private tour of our golf course and clubhouse. You may also visit us online at www.thearchitectsclub.com for additional details.

Sincerely,

Lawrence J. Turco
